1992, Rio de Janeiro Earth Summit: AGENDA 21, (also known as UNCED or the Earth Summit)

PARTIAL SUMMARY:

p.18, para,5: Family Planning Programs

Agenda 21 calls for population programs aiming at mitigating adverse impact on the environment of human activities, including population growth. Family planning programs involve reproductive health programs and services, education and information (5.4; 5.51).

p.19: The Global Pie Charts represent percentages of activities that are regionally implemented and/or in progress for the element or category of implementation.

p.33: Europe: CO M B A T I N G P O V E R T Y: It doesn't bode well for Indigenous people (pp.29,30, 31, Asia, S. Pacific). [Only the rich should have islands.]

p.32: Participation by WOMEN: It doesn't bode well for women (in America or Europe, p.32, even in NGOs). But the guys have implemented MANY "women's programs." [Agenda 21 must be a "guy" thing. The only way to change that is through "pussy power."] p.35: Latin America: Local Authorities ("standing army") is gaining ground, due to "better education" (propaganda). IMPLEMENTED.

p. 26: Participation of NGOs (Non-Governmental Organizations, Africa,) isn't needed.

... and lots, lots more.
